Ohio Art League Member Curated Exhibition Art as Contemporary Folklore

July 30, 2014 - COLUMBUS, OHIO - Ohio Art League has partnered with the Columbus College of Art & Design (CCAD) to bring the Member Curated Exhibition, “Art as Contemporary Folklore,” to the public this July and August. Maria DiFranco has created new works inspired by distinct cultures to symbolize contemporary subject matter. This exhibition explores traditional imagery, mythology, folklore and allegory to describe the various aspects that shape our cultures.

“Art as Contemporary Folklore” opened July 16, 2014 in the Acock Gallery, Canzani Center, second floor at the Columbus College of Art & Design, 60 Cleveland Ave, 614-224-9101. Acock Gallery hours of operation are Tuesday-Friday 10 am – 7 pm., Saturday & Sunday noon – 6 pm.

The public is invited to attend the closing reception at no charge on Saturday, Aug. 30 from 6 – 8 pm.

About the Artist: Maria DiFranco

Maria DiFranco is currently a Graduate Teaching Associate and MFA candidate at The Ohio State University. DiFranco grew up in Westlake Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland. Always having an interest in history and art, DiFranco attended Rhode Island School of Design for her undergraduate degree where she earned a BFA in printmaking. She continued to live in Providence, Rhode Island for the next several years teaching and exhibiting her artwork. DiFranco has received several awards and recognitions.

About the Curator: Lillianna Marie

Lillianna Marie is a visual artist who was born in Connecticut, but has also lived in Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Italy and Senegal. She earned a B.Sc. in coastal science, and B.A. in visual & linguistic studies, from the University of Connecticut in 2008. Additionally, Marie has studied photography at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, at Yale University, and is presently pursuing her MFA at The Ohio State University. Her photographs and digital videos explore multi-variable relationships, and the intersections of science and art.
